Get going on making your garage great at
The Novi Home & Garden Show April 6-8, 2018 at Suburban Collection Showplace

Novi, Mich.—Cleaning up and organizing a garage is not just a springtime rite of passage, but when done properly, can bring in a great return on investment (ROI) for a homeowner. At the Novi Home & Garden Show, April 6-8 at Suburban Collection Showplace, there will be multiple exhibitors offering garage organization services, as well as garage builders and garage door suppliers available for hire.

When it comes to financially-sound home upgrades, replacing the garage door is the simplest way to upgrade your home's curb appeal while giving homeowners the most ROI, according to Remodeling magazine's 2018 Cost vs Value Report. This makes sense considering a garage door accounts for 20–40 percent of a home's front elevation. A new, insulated garage door averages $3,500 to purchase and install and averages 97 percent cost recuperation, making it the top home improvement job with the highest payback.

Don't just stop at a new garage door. Upgrading the organizational aspect of your garage can have a definite effect on your daily life, as well as the resale value of your home. According to the National Association of Home Builders, 86 percent of home survey responders feel additional garage storage space is very important in choosing a new home.

“When it comes to clutter and organization, the garage can be the hardest part of the home to tackle,” says Larry Fischer, of Detroit Garage Solutions, who will be exhibiting at The Novi Home & Garden Show. “Taking items off the floor and efficiently storing them will create more space in your garage and transform it from an inconvenient mess to an organized, functioning space.” Fischer says the average spend on an organizational system for a garage is $2,200.
