Chase winter blues away at The Novi Home Show, January 21-23, at Suburban Collection Showplace

NOVI, Mich.—Take a break from the cold and snow with a visit to The Novi Home Show, January 21-23 at the Suburban Collection Showplace, Novi.

With home renovation plans, costs and spending continuing to increase, time spent at The Novi Home Show is a great way to shop for exactly what you want and need for any home project, no matter the size or scope, at the best price.

“The fervor for doing home renovations, either on their own or through a reputable company, has not lessened,” said Michael Stoskopf, CEO of the Homebuilders Association of Michigan, producers of the Novi Home Shows. “Our home shows assist project planning by offering the opportunity to check out options and to connect with experts and professionals that can help homeowners with any home or landscaping project.”

One of the top five home projects, according to Google Trends and Zillow, not surprisingly, is the home office. With so many working in a hybrid/remote situation, the home office is now front and center in the home renovation realm. According to a 2021 Zillow survey of homeowners, nearly three-fourths would consider at least one home improvement project in the next year, including adding or improving a home office space (31%). The average home office is 150 square feet, and a renovation can start at $1,400 for new, custom cabinets and furniture and goes up from there.

“We love doing work space upgrades,” said Nick Nankervis from Pfeiffer Custom Furnishings, Auburn Hills, Michigan, a Novi Home Show exhibitor. “We’ve seen an uptick of 40 percent in home office renovations over the past couple of years, and we don’t see interest dropping for a while.”

Don’t have an extra room to dedicate to a home office? Consider creating a “cloffice” out of an extra closet, cleaned out of course, suggested Nankervis “Having the right setup can make a world of difference for a professional or student,” Nankervis said.

If you are considering or actively planning a home improvement project, a trip to The Novi Home Show will kick start a stalled project, or help you make decisions on a current one.
